Dedication

Patience, sincerity, and hard work--this has been Mr. Melby's motto in developing our music department. Class work, as well as our musical programs and band uniforms, has shown what a wonderful job he has done. We wish to express our thanks by dedicating this Redbird to Mr. Winton C. Melby.

Class Poem

We, the senior class of fifty-one,
Will ne'er forget our high school days,
For these were times in which we grew
In wisdom and in worldly ways.

Tomorrow each will go his way;
Tho' friends may drift apart,
The memories of joys we've shared,
Will live within each heart.

Let us strive in this great world,
To overcome earth's towering fears;
May each one do his uttermost,
To insure success in future years.

These four years of high school life
We'll leave behind with many a sigh,
But we'll hold them fast in memory.
With these last words, we say good-bye.

Me

Class History

As we look back through the past of the senior class of 1951, we find thirty-eight green but not bashful freshmen beginning their first year in high school. We lost four of the thirty-eight, before the sophomore year. Our class officers were Joyce Hokana, president; Danny Slemmons, vice-president; Arlene Retzlaff, secretary-treasurer. Shirley Adams was elected as our class reporter. Our class adviser was Mrs. Brouillard. At the close of the freshman year we went on our yearly picnic to Weber's Gulch near Forbes.

Our sophomore year with a membership of thirty-two students started out with a bang. On October 1, we all came to school decked out in our initiation clothes and obeyed every call of the Mighty Seniors. Our class officers that year were Duane Wanttie, president; Eugene Krieger, vice president; and Eugene Burlingame, secretary-treasurer. Arlene Retzlaff and Derril Wedell were chosen candidates for king and queen at the Oompah Carnival. Our class reporter was Arlene Retzlaff, and our class adviser was Mr. Lindquist.

In 1950 the sophomores returned to school as juniors with lots of ambition. The enrollment was thirty-two that year. Class officers were president, Sally Crabtree; vice-president, Garry Bowman; Shirley Adams, secretary-treasurer; and Arlene Retzlaff, Loretta Mintz and Helen Hagel, class reporters. Mr. Lindquist was class adviser.

After Christmas vacation, we were found selecting class rings, another very enjoyable event for the juniors. We selected a gold mounted ring with an "E" as the center. We received our rings in April and of course were all proud of them. We knew we were becoming grown up and would soon be mighty seniors, and would then have the honor of wearing them with the 1951 up instead of down.

This year we presented a play, since there was no carnival. Miss Onsrud directed us in this play called "Home With Father".

Then came the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom, the outstanding events of the year. Our theme was "Goodbye and Good Luck". This event was one that gave the class the ability to show its skill in planning, skill to create something new, and to work together, and skill in handling difficult situations. The banquet was held in the Masonic Temple basement and the Prom was held in the gymnasium with John Taylor and his orchestra furnishing the music.

Sally Crabtree and Shirley Adams of the junior class were made members of the Keystone Honor Society.

The juniors picnicked at Wylie Park near Aberdeen.

me

Our senior year was the most wonderful year in high school. We elected Sally Crabtree for president, Robert Bymers for vice-president, Renee Olson for secretary treasurer, Marian Martin for class reporter, and Mr. Ingvalson for class adviser.

Our class was very fortunate in having been able to have our school paper, "The Cardinal", printed. The entire school found it interesting.

With ideal leadership we sponsored parties and other activities. A Teen Canteen was formed and sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association. We found it to be one of the outstanding activities of the season.

Five members received charms for four years of band work; sixteen were active in glee club. Both band and glee club were of the school's best activities and a number of members took part in speech and musical festivals. One girl took part in the twirling organization. She received a pin for performing for four years.

Arlene Retzlaff, Joyce Hokana, Helen Hagel, Renee Olson, and Danny Slemmons were given membership in the Keystone Honor Society.

Then came the senior class play, "A Quiet Summer", which was a big success.

This concludes the history of the class of 1951. We now wish to express our appreciation to our teachers, who have so faithfully guided us on the road of education.

Class Prophecy

The year, it says here on the calendar, is 1961. This is the year of our Class of '51 reunion, and Arlene Wedell, Gary Tiegs, and I, Shirley Adams, were placed on the invitation committee. The President had just passed an economy move that closed the U. S. Post Offices, so our invitations had to be personal. This came as a low blow to us, for we all hated so to leave Ellendale. But Gary volunteered the services of his Cadillac, and we couldn't refuse him.

We ate our first dinner at the Stork Club in New York. Before our meal was half devoured, Arlene let out a blood-curdling scream; I turned around and saw hot coffee trickling down her back. And standing behind her, looking very much ashamed, was Eugene Burlingame, all decked out in a tuxedo. He apologized profusely--in French, yet!

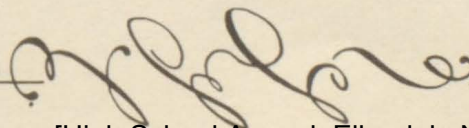

Also a resident of New York, we learned, was Winnifred Cofell. She had become very successful drawing comic strips. When we asked if she liked her work, her only comment was, "As a matter of fact, yes."

We stopped in at the Kentucky Derby, and to our surprise we found Ray Barton was the leading jockey there. Ray showed us a picture in his local newspaper, and all of us became very suspicious. Leaving Ray with his horses, we immediately went to Hollywood to see Hedda Hopper. Just as we suspected, Delmer Heine in disguise. We promised not to ruin his career if he would help us find some of our classmates. Arlene Retzlaff, he told us, was to visit her (purely a social call!) and she told us that her best customers were Dorothy Schneck and Dorothy Brown.

"Hedda" also informed us that Bruce Beaver was in Hollywood judging beauty contests. We were informed that he was very fond of his job.

Out of curiosity, we visited the movie studios. In one of them we saw Betty Hutton and her double doing a noisy song and dance act. The "double" was none other than Shirley Lien. We discussed old times with Shirley and then left for points east. Gary insisted that we stop at the hot-rod races in the Bonneville Salt Flats. The proprietor was our own Marlene Olson! She told us that Melvin Martinson had entered his Model A in a race two years ago, and had not yet returned. The last report stated he was still going around a far turn. While we were visiting with Marlene, her sister Renee dropped in. She was on her way to Reno for the tenth time.

Our next stop was Chicago. Here we found Loretta Mintz and Midge Hagel. Both of them had jobs as models. Loretta specialized in styles for the stout woman and Midge was modeling clothes for the woman 5' 7" and over. Isaac Hill also resided here. He was doorman for the for the local YWCA.

While we were reading a daily paper, we learned of the tragic death of Joyce Hokana. Joyce, it seems, had become an airline stewardess and the job had become so much of a routine that she never knew whether they were in the air or on the ground. Joyce stepped out through the door while they were in mid-air. The pilot was charged with negligence.

The three of us were so tired of riding that we stopped in for a floorshow. Delbert Jury and his orchestra were providing the music and Lulu Belle and Scotty were the main attraction. This great team was composed of Raymond Peterson and Marian Martin.

Philadelphia was the next whistle-stop. Arlene and I started down the main drag to shop, and we ran into Sally Crabtree on one of the corners. She had given up her math career and was now travelling about the country with a flea circus. Bruce Edwards, she told us, was her main barker.

Along the way we ran into Melvina Hiepler. She had recently won the world's plowing contest and was now on tour. She directed us to the office of Eugene Krieger, who was a renowned psychiatrist. We had a pleasant chat with him before leaving.

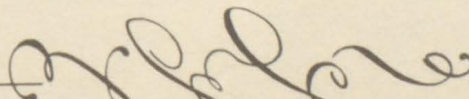

Derril Wedell was destined to go down in history books as the first man to ever bail out of a plane without a parachute.

At last we had arrived home! Haven't we forgotten someone? No, we haven't forgotten them; they're residents of Ellendale.

Guy Bobbe is a prominent business man now that he has taken over the local welding shop. Duane Wanttie also resides here; he runs a restaurant. Guess which one. Bob Bymers is now Ellendale's mayor, and he is working diligently for a six-day school week.

To the south of us is Danny Slemmons, a great surgeon, in the up-and-coming town of Gage, South Dakota.

All we can do now is sit and wait for our guests to arrive for the reunion. But wait! We forgot something. We forgot to tell them the date. OH, NO!

Class Will

We, the Seniors, inhabiting the one and only Ellendale High School, better know as "Ye Old E. H. S.", and being endowed with mature minds (debatable), do hereby submit our last will and testament.

Article I

We hereby bequeath our latent brain power to the underclassmen with the hope that they can match it.

Article II

We hereby leave to the faculty the four years of grievances and may they always have a warm spot in their hearts for us.

Article III

To all who remain at E. H. S. we will a box of Kleenex in which to pour their tears as they grieve our departure from this great institution of learning.

Article IV

The individual bequests are as follows:

- I, Shirley Adams, leave my acting ability to anyone who thinks they can fill my shoes.
- I, Raymond Barton, will donate my Farmer's Union membership card to Maynard Weitala.
- I, Bruce Beaver, leave my unused razor blades to Alfred Trautman.
- I, Guy Bobbe, leave my big talk and addresses to Herbert Wagner to add to his own.
- I, Dorothy Brown, leave my twirling class to the junior twirlers.
- I, Eugene Burlingame, leave my church keys to Roland Pomplun.
- I, Robert Bymers, leave my speed to Darlene Rexinger in the hope she will catch her man.
- I, Winnifred Cofell, leave my artistic ability to Loren Bobbe.
- I, Sally Crabtree, leave my leadership ability to Jack Helder hoping he will lead the juniors to success.
- I, Bruce Edwards, leave Beverly Gerdon the full possession of her desk.
- I, Helen Hagel, leave my ability to go steady to Grace Bell.
- I, Delmer Heine, leave to anybody who can stand to wear it, my loud wardrobe.
- I, Melvina Hiepler, leave my aches and pains to Lorna Maack so she will never run out.
- I, Isaac Hill, leave my physique to Norman West.
- I, Joyce Hokana, leave my unquestionable privilege of free travel to Marilyn Neumann, trusting she will spend at least one period a day in study hall.

I, Delbert Jury, leave my studious attitude to James Billey.

I, Eugene Krieger, leave my quick service at the Coffee Shoppe to anyone who can get a girl-friend working there.

I, Shirley Lien, leave my lovely blond tresses to Angela Heine.

I, Marian Martin, leave my feminine reserved ways to Karen McShane.

I, Melvin Martinson, leave to Roger Kendall my massive breath for blowing the sousaphone.

I, Loretta Mintz, leave my persuasive power to Betty Houghton.

I, Marlene Olson, leave my wisecracks to anyone who can say them with a straight face.

I, Renee Olson, leave all my interests in points north to Connie Burow.

I, Raymond Peterson, leave my well groomed toupee to Marvin Brandenburger.

I, Arlene Retzlaff, leave my athletic ability to Delores Nitschke.

I, Dorothy Schneck, leave my diet plan to Lois Dorsch.

I, Danny Slemmons, leave to Gary Edwards my athletic record to beat.

I, Gary Tiegs, leave to Loren, my brother, my parking place and nickname, Tombstone.

I, Duane Wanttie, leave to Luella Hall my chances to make the managership.

I, Arlene Wedell, leave to Dulcie Bell by perfect attendance record.

I, Derril Wedell, leave my taxi service for all pretty girls to Frank Heitman.

Senior Play

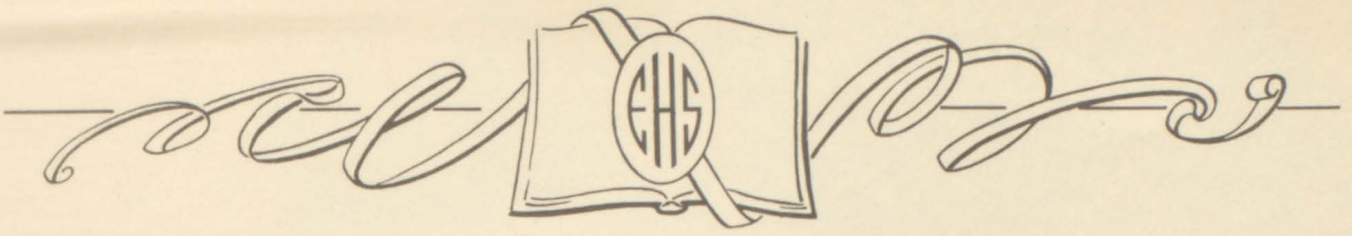

"Quiet Summer", a three-act comedy by Marrijane and Joseph Hayes, was presented on May 1 by members of the senior class.

The play centers around James Clark, a lawyer, who had hopes of spending the summer in peace and serenity concentrating on getting elected president of the Country Club. He knows this will be the first step towards winning the election for district attorney in the fall. But best laid plans of men who are Uncles often go astray. In the course of three hilarious acts Uncle Jimmie learns how to relax and about the younger generation from Pamela 17, and Sonny 15, children of his sister, Lillian, who with her husband wants to get away from them for the summer. The children learn a few things themselves. James Clark even wins the election through the inventive and unconventional aid of the kids and the helpers that quickly gather around them. Pamela and Sonny, as all young people will do, had their uncle's home turned into a combination rumpus room and campaign headquarters. The whole cast was involved in complicated romantic adventure which creates a very comical plot.

Junior Play

"Old Doc", a three-act comedy-drama, was presented by the junior class on December 1, 1950.

It involved a small town doctor who thought his son Bob was coming home from medical school to practice with him. Learning that Bob was not coming home, he suffered a stroke. Deciding that it meant more to save lives than to enjoy himself in elite society, Young Doc resumed his father's practice and married Margaret, his home-town girl.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Dr. John Hillary, Old Doc	Eugene Burlingame
Dr. Robert Hillary, "Bob", his son.	Jack Helder
Pa Brown, a neighbor	Bob Higgs

The Play Festival

The sixteenth annual play festival was held Thursday evening, February 22, in the Ellendale High School gymnasium. The senior class represented the Ellendale High School in presenting a one-act drama entitled "A Certain Just Man" by Anne Coultly Martens.

The plot: Josiah Bancroft, the just man, sincerely believes he has never wronged any man. The Keeper of the King's Gate sends him back to review the last hour of his life. As he reviews his last hour he begins to realize he has been very unjust with his fellowmen and as his last hour ends he goes back to enter the portals of eternity a righteous man.

Junior Events

On September 5, 1950, 28 brassy looking juniors entered senior high and took their seats just two rows from the windows. Throughout the year the juniors sponsored their share of the school parties, sold Christmas cards, ran a concession stand at the basketball games, and had a bake sale.

On December 1, 1950, the juniors presented a three act comedy, entitled "Old Doc". The play was very successful from both the financial and attendance viewpoint. From the proceeds of the play, the junior class donated thirty dollars to the hospital in their name plus fifteen dollars for a clock which is to be hung in the corridor of the hospital in honor of Miss Onsrud.

The juniors' next money-making event took place on March 29, 1951. It was the "Junior Frolics". This included two skits, a one act play, and several musical and comedy numbers.

On May 15, 1951, the junior-senior banquet and prom took place. John Taylor and his orchestra provided the music. The big gym was decorated with an array of palm trees and a large variety of colors, setting the scene for our theme, "Hawaiian Cruise"

Sophomore Events

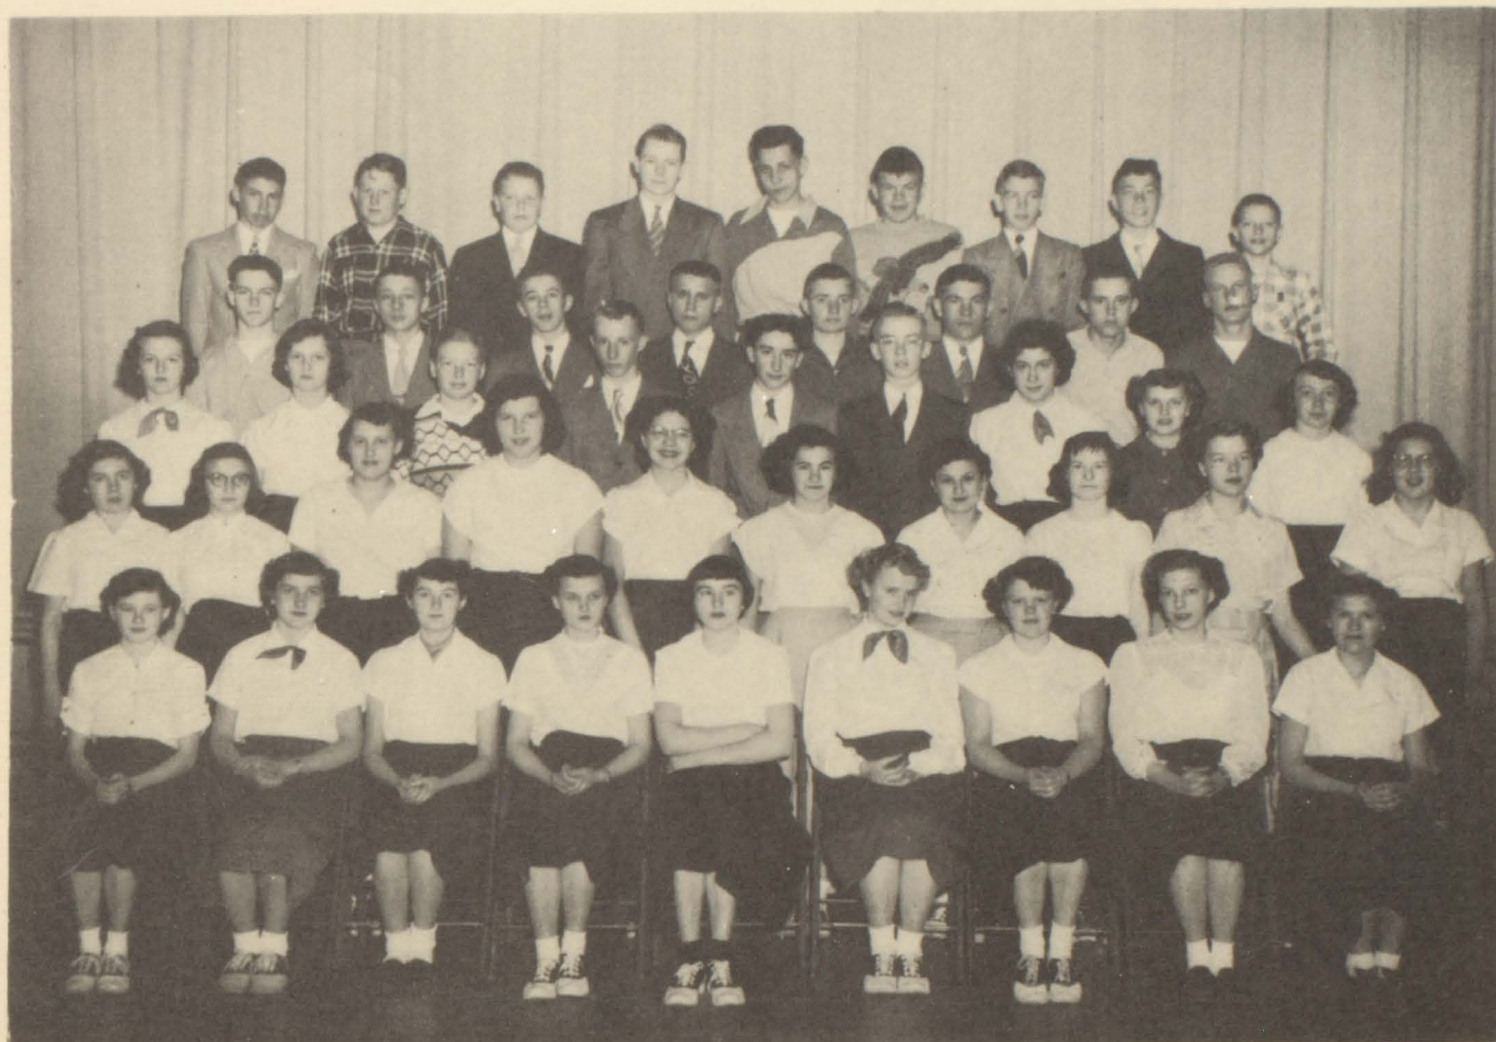

The sophomores became full-fledged members of Senior High on October 3, Initiation Day. Clad in their original costumes, they paraded down Main Street. At the party several exhibitions of their talents were given. After the stunts they were allowed to go home and change their costumes. The rest of the evening was fully enjoyed by them all. The sophs took initiation with a grin, but oh, sweet revenge.

During the year the sophomores entertained the Junior and Senior High School at several successful parties.

The class officers for the year were: Gary Edwards, president; Elden Reinke, vice-president; Norman Stahlecker, treasurer; and Carolyn Pierce, secretary. The class adviser was Mr. Ringham.

Van Sickle, J. Mouw.

Freshman Events

On September 5, 1950, forty-seven freshmen entered through the Junior High assembly doors.

At their first class meeting Harlen Stahlecker was elected president, LaPalma Tiegs, vice-president; JoAnn Woodward, secretary; and Kathy Dobler, treasurer. Karen McShane and LaPalma Tiegs were chosen as cheerleaders. Their outfits were red pull-over sweaters and black corduroy slacks. Beth Ashmore was elected class reporter. Mr. Wilson was chosen as class adviser.

Several parties were held during the year. We had a St. Patrick's Day party, which consisted of dancing, games and refreshments.

The class gave four dollars and twenty-five cents to the Crippled Children's Home at Jamestown at Christmas time.

Keystone Society

Membership in Keystone is based on four qualities: scholarship, leadership, character, and service. All students inducted into this society are members for life, or as long as they fulfill the requirements.

Ellendale high school's Keystone society was organized in 1929; to date there are a total of one hundred and forty-three members.

Sally Crabtree and Shirley Adams became members in their junior year, and Helen Hagel, Joyce Hokana, Arlene Retzlaff, Renee Olson, and Daniel Slemmons became members in their senior year.

Esther Schaller of the junior class was also inducted this year.

'50' Football History

On September 1, thirty-five practice uniforms were issued to eager football enthusiasts by Coach Clark Ringham. After three weeks of hard grueling practice, the Cardinals were ready for their initial contest of the 1950 season.

The Cardinals journeyed northward to Mayville on September 22 and came home with a 26 to 0 victory. The Cardinals' eleven looked strong on offense with a veteran backfield, composed of Bruce Beaver at fullback, and Danny Slemmons at quarterback, playing together for the second straight year. However, the line was small and inexperienced. Jack Helder at tackle and Bob Higgs at end were the only returning lettermen in the line. The vacant positions, however, were very ably filled by Gary Edwards at end, Newton Davis at tackle Kendel Cofell and Duane Wanttie at guards and Guy Bobbe at center.

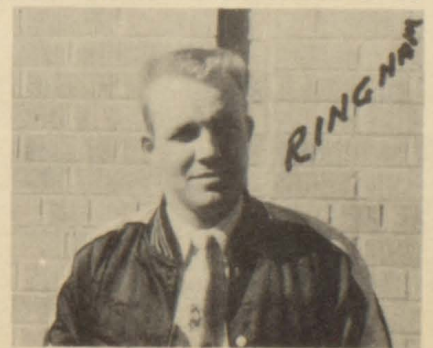

The next week, on Sept. 29 it was a slightly different story when a big Enderlin team defeated the determined Cards 12-0.

The following week the Cardinals met their arch-rivals, the Oakes Tornadoes and in one of their hardest-fought games of the season out-blew the Tornadoes by one point. The final score was 7-6.

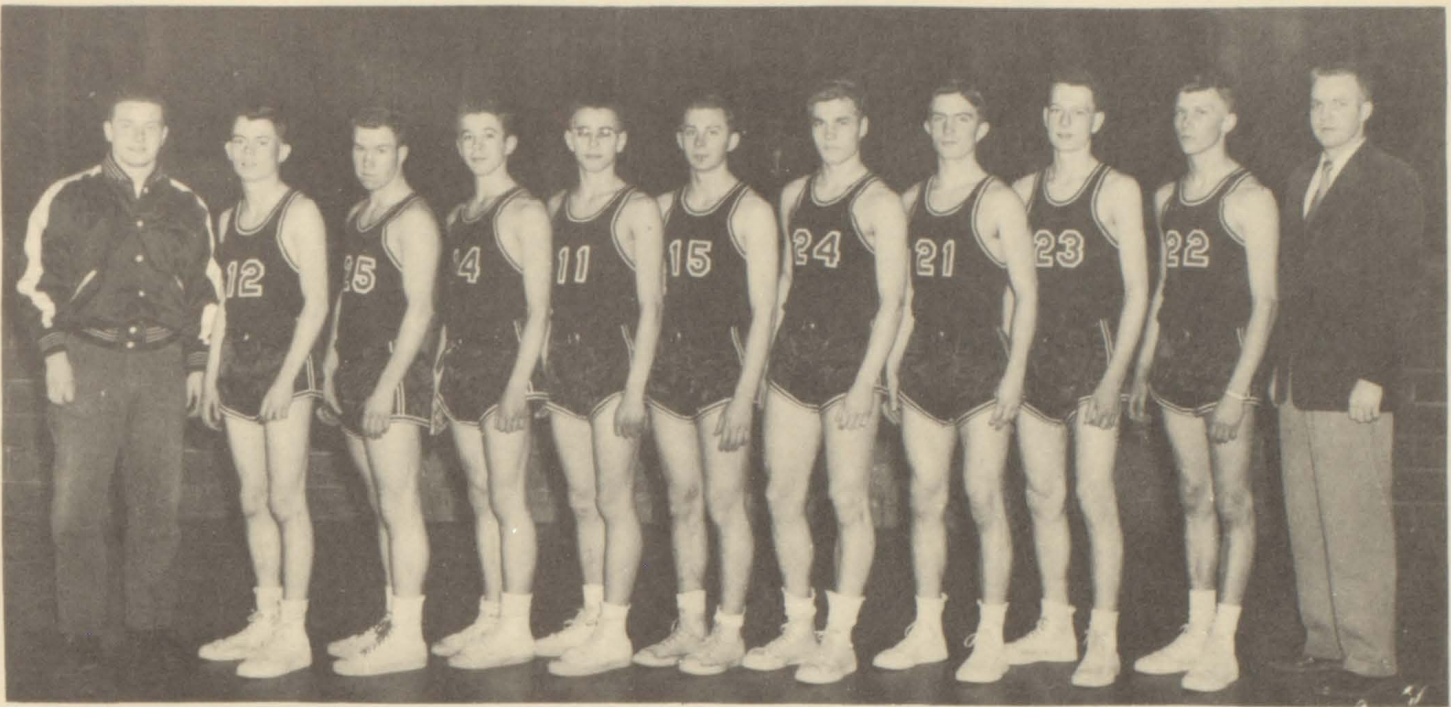

A huge Lisbon team was Ellendale's next opponent on October 13. This was one of the Cards' best-played contests as they fought back from the short end of a 13-0 score to lead late in the fourth quarter, 20-19. Then a long, desperate Lisbon pass in the closing seconds connected and spelled defeat for the Cardinals.

On Oct. 27, after a week's rest, the Cards defeated the Edgeley Rangers in the first home appearance of the season, 27-13.

The conference champions, the LaMoure Loboes, defeated and out-classed the Ellendale team in the final game of the season on Nov. 3. The weather was very cold and the Cardinals seemed to be frozen in their tracks as the Loboes rolled over them 32-0.

Basketball Team

L. to R. Jack Helder*, student manager, Don McShane*, Bruce Beaver*, Harlen Stahlecker*, Norman Stahlecker*, Elden Reinke, Danny Slemmons*, Bob Higgs*, Stanley Kern, Gary Edwards*, Clark Ringham, coach.

*Received letters in 1951.

With only three lettermen, Bruce Beaver, Gary Edwards, and Danny Slemmons, returning from the 1949-1950 season and not having a man over six feet tall, the Ellendale Cardinals didn't promise to have too successful a season this year. They did just what they were expected to do. The Cards played 14 games during the regular season before getting in the win column by beating Oakes 47-39.

The Cardinals had the potential of being a winning team, but their lack of height spelled their defeat. They played in one of the toughest conferences in the state this year as two of the conference members, Enderlin and Lisbon, took high honors in the state. Lisbon was state class B champion.

Even with this strong competition, the Cards hit their peak in the District Tournament when they beat Oakes and LaMoure after losing a tough game to Lisbon to capture the consolation championship.

Even though the regular season was unsuccessful as far as wins and losses were concerned, the Cards ended it a winning team to make up for all the losses. Those lettering in basketball and seeing most of the action were Bruce Beaver and Danny Slemmons, seniors; Don McShane and Bob Higgs, juniors; Gary Edwards and Norman Stahlecker, sophomores; and Harlen Stahlecker, freshman.

1950 Track Team

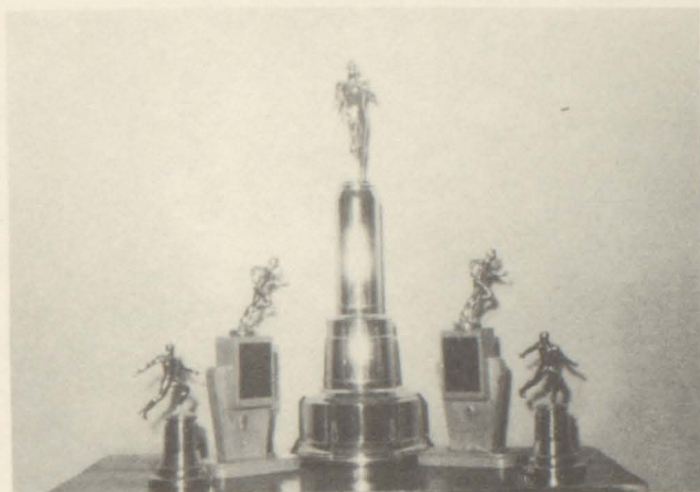

The Ellendale High School Cardinal track team had by far its best season in many years. Led by Bob Bymers in the dashes and Marvin Griffin in the low hurdles, the Cards captured the Class B state track crown for 1950.

The Cards also boasted one of the finest relay teams in the state, as the teams, composed of Bruce Edwards, Marvin Griffin, Gary Edwards, Bob Higgs, and Bob Bymers, captured the state 880 and 440 yard relay trophies.

The Cardinals won the NI Invitational Track Meet and took third in the State District Meet.

The Cardinals have lost the services of their stars, Bob Bymers and Marvin Griffin, but promise to produce a fine team with lettermen Wayne Cherney in the distance runs, Bob Higgs, Bruce Edwards, and Gary Edwards in the relays and dashes, and Danny Slemmons in the pole vault returning for the 1951 season.

The Cardinals participated in the following meets in 1951: Aberdeen Relays, April 27-28; NI Invitational, May 5; District Meet, May 19; State Meet, May 26.

In Retrospect

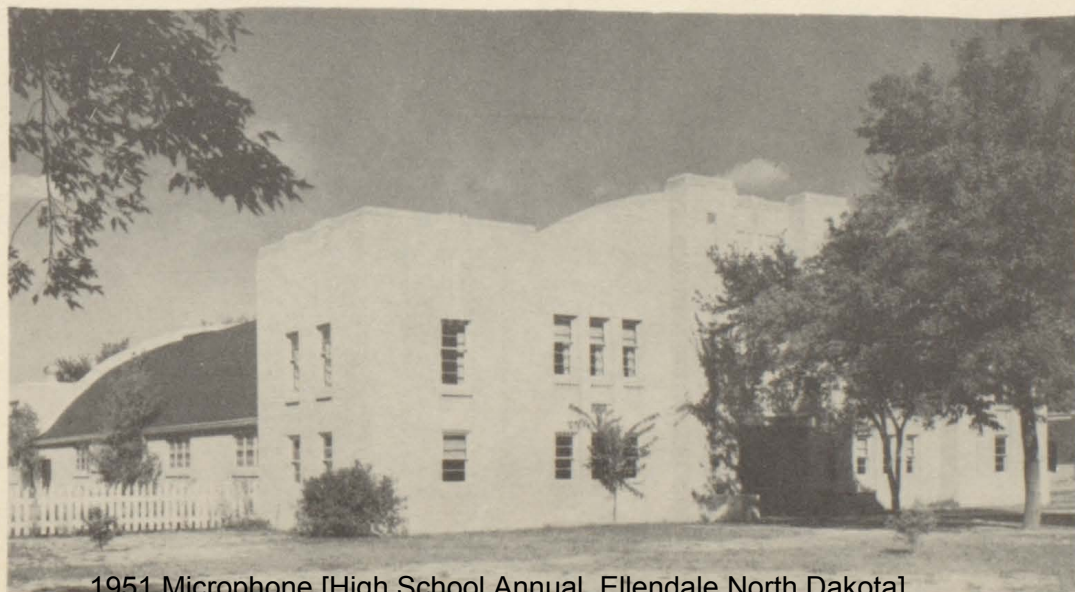

We, the seniors of 1951, have reached an important milestone. During our twelve years of school, we experienced events that will never be forgotten. Some of us have reached the top of our educational ladder; a few still have steps to climb.

Living in the atomic age, we must broaden our minds, learn to know this world in which we live, and learn to understand other people. The last half of the twentieth century will show mankind many new inventions, developments in science, and problems that may take years to solve.

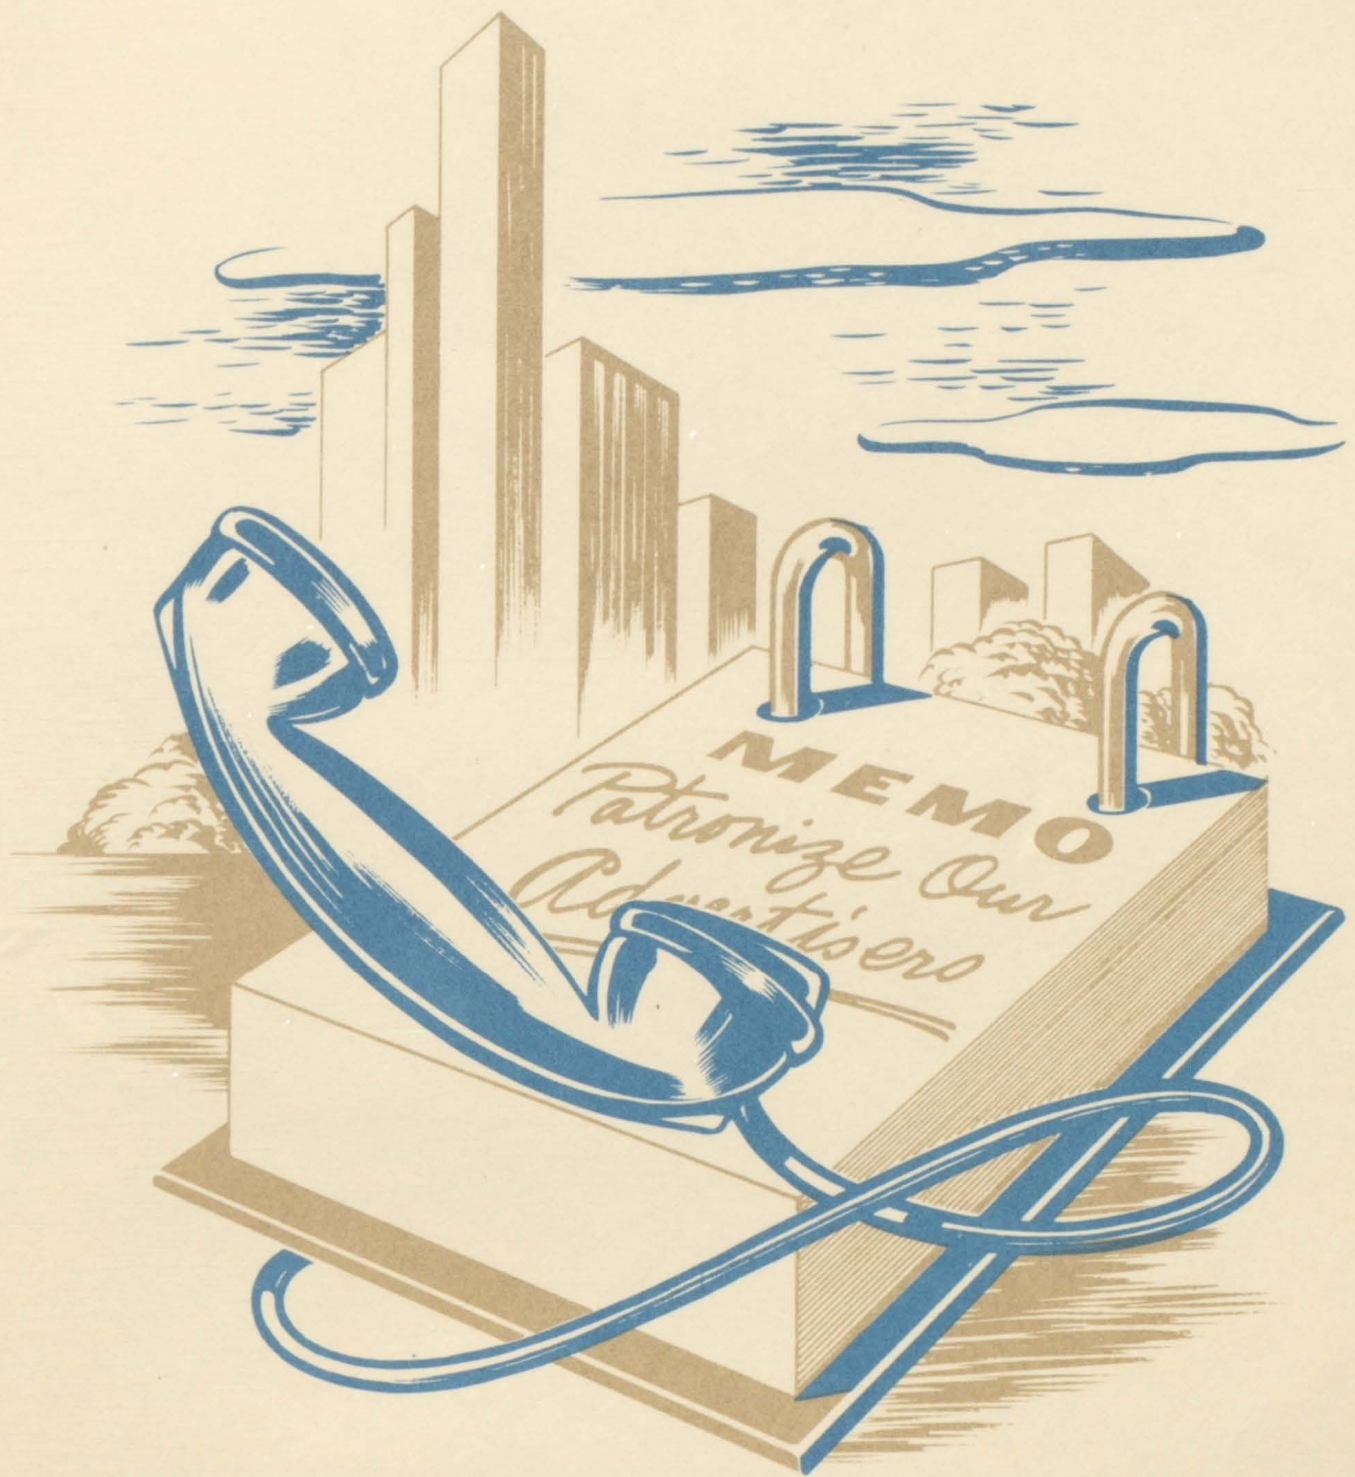

The good times we had at parties, plays, and sports events will never be forgotten. Our teachers have patiently helped to prepare us to take an active part in this atomic age.

Our high school has given us an introduction to life, enabling us to learn and to practice the ways of peace and freedom. Under God's guidance, may we all work toward a world of peace and happiness.
